TASK 4

READING COMPREHENSION

Level A

How can animals live in a desert?

There is almost no water in a desert, but many animals can live in deserts. How do these animals get water and stay alive?

Everything is hot and dry in the daytime, but the nights are cold. Plants often have dew on them in the early morning. This is because cold air can't hold as much water as hot air. Small insects can drink the dew, and bigger animals eat the plants with the dew on them.

Small birds and animals get water from the bodies of insects. Bigger birds and animals get water from the bodies of small animals. There is a North American bird which is called a roadrunner. It runs fast and catches small snakes, lizards and scorpions.

Most big animals can't live in the desert because they need a few liters of water every day. They can't keep water in their bodies for a long time. But camels are different. They can drink 90 liters of water in ten minutes, and then drink nothing for a week.

Task : Choose the correct letter a, b or c and write sentence with it (Write only answers):

1) Deserts are places with.....

- a) no animals                      b) a lot of plants                      c) not much water

2) It is ..... in the desert.

- a) always hot                      b) cold at night                      c) usually wet in the daytime

3) Insects can drink when.....

- a) there is dew      b) the sun goes down                      c) bigger animals eat

4) Roadrunners get water when they .....
